A Groundbreaking Milestone: Logan's Little Warriors Hosts Its First-Ever Overnight Kids Camp

This summer, Logan's Little Warriors reached an exciting milestone with our very first Overnight Kids Camp. It was more than just a weekend away. It was the beginning of something we have envisioned for a long time and a true reflection of why Logan's Little Warriors was created.

From the very beginning, our mission has been to help children build confidence, discover their strengths, develop meaningful relationships, and learn life skills that will serve them for years to come. This camp brought that mission to life in a way that words can hardly describe.

For three unforgettable days, campers stepped away from screens and everyday routines and immersed themselves in an experience centered on growth, connection, and adventure. They met new friends, tried new activities, challenged themselves, and discovered that they are capable of more than they ever imagined.

The weekend began with camp orientation, fun icebreakers, and activities that encouraged teamwork right from the start. As the campers settled into their cabins, they learned about the Warrior Way and the values that would guide them throughout the weekend. They also participated in the B.A.N.K. Personality Challenge, where they discovered that everyone communicates and learns differently. These lessons helped campers appreciate each other's strengths while building trust and respect within their teams.

Adventure was around every corner. Campers hiked to beautiful waterfalls, explored nature, journaled about their experiences and enjoyed an unforgettable equine connection experience. They also built STEM rocket blasters, completed obstacle courses, and worked together through a variety of team challenges that encouraged leadership, problem solving, and resilience.

Some of the most meaningful moments happened when everyone slowed down. Around the campfire, campers shared stories, reflected on their experiences, and learned valuable lessons about kindness and communication. During an evening activity, they were encouraged to let go of negative thoughts and replace them with positive ones. Every morning began with Warrior Way affirmations, reminding each child that they are strong, capable, and worthy.

As the weekend came to an end, there were plenty of smiles and even a few tears. Campers made friendship bracelets, celebrated one another during the Warrior Recognition Awards, reflected on what they had learned, and took one final group photo before heading home. They arrived as individuals, but they left as a community.

Watching the campers encourage one another, overcome challenges, and form lasting friendships reminded us why this work matters. This camp was not simply about keeping kids busy for a weekend. It was about creating an environment where they could grow into confident, compassionate, and resilient young leaders.

None of this would have been possible without the incredible volunteers, mentors, families, and supporters who gave their time, energy, and hearts to make this camp a success. Your dedication helped create an experience that these children will carry with them for years to come.

Our first Overnight Kids Camp was a dream come true, but it is only the beginning. We are excited to continue growing this program and creating even more opportunities for children to learn, connect, and discover the warrior within themselves.

Building Confidence Through the Program for Real Change

This month, Logan's Little Warriors proudly hosted our third Program for Real Change at Saint John's.

These sessions continue to be a meaningful opportunity to connect with women who are working hard to create a brighter future for themselves and their families. Our goal is simple: provide encouragement, practical tools, and a supportive environment where personal growth can happen.

During this session, participants learned about the Warrior Way and explored the power of affirmations and visualization. We shared the Logan's Little Warriors story and introduced the B.A.N.K. personality system to help participants better understand themselves and the people around them. Together, we worked through activities such as cracking B.A.N.K. codes and painting personality profiles, creating both learning and moments of self-discovery.

One of the most rewarding parts of the day was seeing participants engage with one another, share their experiences, and build confidence through conversation and connection. Every session reminds us that when people feel seen, supported, and valued, positive change becomes possible.

The Program for Real Change continues to grow, and we are grateful for the volunteers, partners, and supporters who help make it possible. Together, we are creating opportunities for learning, hope, and personal transformation.

We look forward to continuing this journey with the women of Saint John's and expanding the impact of this program in the months ahead.
